“ I only knew you for five years, but I will never forget you. When you first came into my life, I was afraid of you and after I got to know you, I saw how good of a man you were. You have left behind two wonderful children, which you could not have raised any better and a wife that I love like she was my own mom. Some people forget those who go home before us, but there's no way that anyone could forget you. You were always there with something to say to make someone smile or laugh. I will never forget the things you explained to me in the bible that I didn't understand before and I am thankful for that. Please know that your family loves you and I wish you could be here for them. On April 5, God took an angel that he just couldn't live without but he also took a father, a husband, a brother, a grandpa, a friend, a teacher, an uncle, and more. He brought home a GREAT MAN. God bless you and keep you safe. We will see you again when we get home!

“ We married when we were young and I always knew that you were the one that I was meant to spend my life with. I thank God for the wonderful years that he gave us together and only wish that they wouldn't have ended so soon. I know that you are in a better place and you have all that you ever dreamed of, and though it hurts, I am glad that you are no longer feeling the strains and bad parts of this world. I hope that you are happy and enjoying yourself there with your family and friends that have went before you. You will be missed, but you will always be here in my heart.I Love You Forever an ever
